“ Rory & Ira and Family,
Sorry to hear about the loss of your father who I remember very well from our days and years of Scouting. He always took credit for teaching you both how to play euchre and I may have learned a thing or two from him as well. Great father, mentor, man. Godspeed. Jay Morse - Lake Ann

“ I so enjoyed meeting Gordon in 2017, watching his gardens at Eden Center flourish all last summer, and enjoying the fruits of his labor. His stories and life history were amazing to listen to, and his music was soothing to all. He always had a kind word for everyone. He will be missed. Rest peacefully my friend.

“ I had the pleasure of recently spending some time with Gordon and what a pleasure it was. What an amazing life Gordon lived. I loved hearing stories from working for the railroad. Gordon will be forevermore be fondly remembered at our home when we speak of the exploding egg. Gord said if you held an egg in the palm of your hand and squeezed the egg, the egg would not break. The force on the egg would be the same from all directions and the egg would not break. Well.....we apparently held the egg a bit wrong since when my son tried this the egg literally exploded and yolk went everywhere. Yolk hit the ceiling, kitchen cupboard doors and my husband in the face! Days later we were noticing egg somewhere new. Gord's response to my story about the exploding egg was a big snicker and he told me to go home and try it again and hold it right this time. LOL. My thoughts and prayers will be with you all.
