“ Where do I start? Cody and I go way back we grew up together, graduated together. hung out for countless of hours going fishing on his boat or just walking around grass lake trying to find the best spot to rip some fish , the times i cherish the most was riding around town on the bikes or scoots going on road trips to different skateparks. disc golfing or going for long drives in the car listening to music as loud as we possibly could. Cody’s sister sav was the absolute best big sister ever she would pick us up at anytime when we were just little sprouts no matter what time of the day. Those times were the best! She would always pick all of us boys up and take us on the funnest car rides even though all of us would absolutely drive her crazy she still was there for all of us. He would be calling me a puss right now but Cody was a unique soul he would’ve done anything for anyone he was one of the kindest, smartest and patient person I’ve known to this day! His problem solving skills were unmatched he could make nothing into something with ease! He will be forever missed and loved by so many! I’m gonna miss you brotha! save a seat for me up there! Till then catch the biggest fish and have the fastest car rips!
