

Harrison Smith

February 23, 1937 - February 11, 2012

Roy Harrison Smith, 74 of Williamsburg, passed away on Saturday February 11, 2012 in Traverse City. He was born on February 23, 1937 in Lansing, the son of the late Curtice and Ruth (Moore) Smith. Harrison grew up on a dairy farm 17 miles south of Lansing and was a 1955 graduate of the Lelanau School. From that experience he always favored gardening, bird and squirrel feeding, and drinking milk. In later life, he even developed his own worm farm so that other people could have more successful gardens. He was a member of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston MA, and attended the Traverse City unit of the church. His working career was almost entirely in data processing and computer software support. He had clients from 23 states as far west as Hawaii, and the Vanuatu Islands in the South Pacific. Those who knew him liked him, because he liked them. He almost never lost a client. He was genuine. His favorite hobby was to take a long walk and find somebody to meet. He would walk up to them, smile, put out his hand, introduce himself and become instant friends. He always had something good to say about everybody. They were his friends. Surviving Harrison are his sons, Curtice Smith and his wife Amal of San Francisco, California, Troy Smith and his wife Julie of Orinda, California, and Courtney Smith and his wife Rebecca of El Cerrito, California; his 4 grandchildren; his brothers, Bryan Smith of Barryton, Deems Smith and his wife Deborah of Williamsburg, and Lee Smith and his wife Andrea of Cottage Grove, Oregon. A memorial service will be held this summer. Condolences may be left for the family on line at
